Modern aesthetics and advanced efficiency meet in the white Metz Medio II ceiling hood from Thermex. Stylish design, advanced technology, and nearly silent operation create the perfect kitchen environment.

Metz Medio II from Thermex is a ceiling-integrated range hood that combines efficient ventilation with stylish design. It is made of white lacquered steel with an elegant white glass door and features two grease filters and four LED lamps. The unique feature of Kelvin-adjustable light offers the possibility to customize the color temperature of the lighting, giving the user the freedom to create a warm, cozy atmosphere or a cooler, white illumination as needed. Cleaning is easy with a glass plate that can be cleaned with window cleaner, and filters that can be washed in the dishwasher. Installation is convenient with a low built-in height, and the option to remove the glass plate makes it easy for one person to install the range hood. The range hood offers practical features such as app control via "Thermex Remote" in the App Store and Google Play, as well as voice control via Google Assistant, enhancing user-friendliness. Operation is elegant through a remote control with touch operation, giving the user control over suction power and light intensity. Additionally, it is possible to connect Thermex TopLink, allowing the range hood to be turned on from any electric stove or oven.
